From Brain Disorders to Brain Health: Prevention and Management of Cognitive Decline and Dementia

Free CME Opportunity with the University of Florida

We, at the University of Florida (UF), have received a Florida Department of Health (FLDOH) grant to raise awareness for Alzheimer’s disease (AD) and increase screening for cognitive impairment. We are focusing attention on providing additional medical education to treating clinicians. You are invited to join our online continuing medical education (CME) training at no cost to you. Through this CME, cognitive health experts from UF provide the latest information on the screening, diagnosis, and treatment of mild cognitive impairment and dementia, including referral to specialty care. You can [START THE CME HERE]. If you are not affiliated with the University of Florida, you can [create a UF myTraining account] in less than 5 minutes and access the CME.

Featured Speakers

Todd Golde, MD, PhD
McKnight Brain Institute, Executive Director; Florida Alzheimer’s Disease Research Center, Principal Investigator

Glenn Smith, PhD, ABPP
UF Department of Clinical and Health Psychology, Elizabeth Faulk Professor and Chair

Michael Jaffe, MD
UF Department of Neurology, Vice Chair; UF Memory Disorder Clinic, Director

Demetrius Maraganore, MD, FAAN
UF Department of Neurology, BJ and Eve Wilder Professor

Steven DeKosky, MD
McKnight Brain Institute, Deputy Director; Florida Alzheimer’s Disease Research Center, Associate Director; UF College of Medicine, Aerts-Cosper Professor of Alzheimer’s Research

Linda B. Cottler, PhD, MPH, FACE
FLDOH Ed and Ethel Moore Grant, Director; Community Engagement UF CTSA, Director

Catherine W. Striley PhD, MSW, MPE
FLDOH Ed and Ethel Moore Grant, Co-Director; UF Department of Epidemiology, Associate Professor

For additional information, please contact Shawnta Lloyd at shawnta.lloyd@ufl.edu or Catherine Striley via phone: 352.273.5359 or email: cstriley@ufl.edu.

This work was supported by the FLDOH’s Ed and Ethel Moore Alzheimer Research grant (Linda B. Cottler, PI; 8AZ17). The content is solely the responsibility of the authors and does not necessarily represent the official views of the FLDOH.